
On the acquisition of scalar and additive presuppositions: evidence from Italian persino ‘even’ and neppure ‘not even’

Letizia Raminelli^{*†1}, Elizabeth Heredia Murillo², and Desiré Carioti¹

¹Università degli Studi di Milano-Bicocca = University of Milano-Bicocca – Italy

²Nantes Université – Département des Sciences du Langage – France

Abstract

Keywords: language acquisition, focus particles, scalar presupposition, additive presupposition, Italian, persino, neppure

^{*}Speaker

[†]Corresponding author: letizia.raminelli@gmail.com